ASSIGNMENTS:

Reading: In order to remain current with class progress and discussion, you will be required to read approximately 2 to 3 chapters each week from the text. This will enable you to learn the material much better, contribute more to class discussion, and prepare you for any tests and quizzes.

Class assignment: Assignments are due at the beginning of class and must be typed and double-spaced. Assignments may be turned in late for partial credit. If you are going to be absent/late for a valid reason, please let me know before class begins, so the missed points will not affect your overall percentage score. All work must be that of the student receiving the credit. The assignments for this course are:

1. Each student will identify and list at least three short-term (less than a year), three intermediate-term (1-5 years), and three long term (5+) personal financial goals to be used in developing a personal budget. They are to be submitted with a desired achievement date, anticipated costs, and steps necessary for achievement for each goal. They should also be listed in priority order. A one page summary/evaluation will also be completed at the end of the semester.
2. Each student will design a suitable budget for his/her personal situation utilizing the personal financial goals identified. The budget should include all expected income and its source(s), expected expenses and savings deposits. After the proposed budget is submitted, the student will track all actual income and expenses. At the end of each month, the student will submit a copy of the original proposed budget along with a comparison of the proposed budget and the actual budget for the current month indicated all differences. The student will also include an analysis of what was learned from the month's financial activities and the corresponding effect it had on the next month's budget, as well as a proposed budget for the next month. A one page summary/evaluation will also be completed at the end of the semester.
3. Each student will select at least three different stocks that he/she would like to invest in and will purchase (on paper) $10,000 worth of stock. These stocks are to be tracked each week and then sold (on paper) at the end of the semester. Each student will construct a graph charting the activity of each stock during the semester and will write at least a one page paper describing what things have been learned and the overall gain/loss incurred during the semester.
4. Each student will make a written comparison of a basic checking and savings account at a commercial bank with one at a credit union.
5. Each student will make a written comparison of three different credit cards, listing the features, costs, and benefits associated with each card. A student's current credit card(s) may be used.
6. Each student will select at least 15 consumer items that they purchase on a regular basis and make a price comparison of at least three different retail establishments, one of which must be a convenience store. The total amount of money spent at each store should be calculated, graphed, and submitted with at least a one page summary analyzing the results.
7. Each student will make a written comparison of available auto insurance. This is to be done by comparing quotes for identical coverage from three auto insurance companies (your own auto insurance policy should be used as one quote if possible).
8. Each student will make a written comparison of the three basic types of life insurance available (term, whole life, and universal life). The student should describe the advantages and disadvantages of each type of life insurance policy.
9. Each student will research two different mutual funds that meet his/her investment goals and risk tolerance. A comparison of these funds, using performance and costs, as well as objectives and risk/return ratings will then be written.

QUIZZES AND TESTS:

To assist in measuring the student's mastery of the learning objectives, there will be 5 written tests given, one each at the completion of each section in the text. They will comprise chapters: 1-3, 4-6, 7-9, 10-12, and 13-14. Smaller, chapter quizzes, may also be utilized. The only exam will be the final.
